What is a corneal abrasion?

The cornea is the 'window' of your eye, and covers the coloured iris. A corneal abrasion is a scratch on the surface of the cornea, caused by injury. A scratch on the surface of your eye is usually very painful.

What are the symptoms?

Pain, redness, excessive watering and blurring of the vision.

How is it treated?

Anti-biotic drops or ointment will be prescribed, and in some cases eyedrops will be given to dilate your pupil. Dilating drops will cause your vision to be temporarily blurred whilst you are using the dilating drops. In some cases an eye pad may be applied for 24 – 48 hours. Do not drive or use machinery, as your judgment of distances will be affected if your eye is padded or your pupil dilated.

What is the expected outcome of treatment?

It is usual for healing to take place within 36-48 hours and the discomfort will reduce as the cornea heals.

Your treatment will usually be prescribed for five to seven days

After your abrasion has healed, if you are waking in the morning with a painful eye and the pain persists throughout the day, this might mean that the surface of your eye has not fully healed. We would then advise you to contact the eye department for further treatment.

Follow-up

You may be given a follow up appointment in the eye clinic if the doctor or nurse treating you feels this is necessary.
